THE FOUR-WAY TEST

Of the things we say and do:

1. Is it the truth?
2. Is it fair to all concerned?
3. Will it build goodwill and better friendships?
4. Will it be beneficial to all concerned?

RC KIPPARING VISITS MATER HOSPITAL TONIGHT

One in seven Queenslanders are born at Mater Mothers' Hospital—making it the busiest maternity hospital in Australia. Whilst at Mater Children's Hospital, specialist staff provide round-the-clock care to seriously ill children.

These babies and children are affectionately known as "Mater Little Miracles". And the care they receive extends from pregnancy, to birth, infancy and childhood.

When you support the Mater Little Miracles Appeal you are helping our state's most vulnerable babies and children.

Tonight, our Club Members get to see the marvellous facilities first hand and to see where the funds raised by one of our nominated charities "Walk For Kids" specifically is expended.

SEPTEMBER is Rotary New Generations Month

Every year, thousands of talented and dedicated young people, ages 12-30, have an incredible experience in a New Generations program.

As Rotaractors and Interactors, they serve in communities at home and abroad. Through Rotary Youth Exchange, they explore new languages and cultures. And as Rotary Youth Leadership Awards participants, they learn skills that will help them succeed as future community leaders.

New Generations (Youth Service) is Rotary's fifth Avenue of Service.

Sir Wilmot Hudson Fysh, founder of Qantas Airlines: was born on 7 January 1895 at Launceston, Tasmania. His great-uncle Sir Philip Fysh was twice premier of Tasmania. He became a jackeroo and wool classer, but on the outbreak of war enlisted as a trooper in the 3rd Regiment of the 1st Australian Light Horse Brigade. Serving on Gallipoli and in Egypt and Palestine he was commissioned lieutenant in 1916 in the brigade's machine-gun squadron before transferring to the Australian Flying Corps as an observer. He won the Distinguished Flying Cross, and graduated as a scout pilot at Heliopolis on 28 February 1919.

After his return to Australia that year Hudson Fysh, with Paul McGinness, another ex-service airman, were commissioned by the government to survey the Longreach (Queensland)-Darwin section of the route: their T-model Ford was the first car to journey overland to the Gulf of Carpentaria. On 16 November 1920 Fysh and McGinness with western Queensland graziers Fergus McMaster, Ainslie Templeton and Alan Campbell formed the Queensland and Northern Territory Aerial Services Ltd (QANTAS). (Sir Hudson-Fysh was a Rotarian -Rotary Club of Sydney)

Situated in the Scottish Highlands, the Club was the second in the city of Inverness.

Chartered in 1990 in District 1010 the club began with 35 members and today boasts a membership of over 60.

Amongst other projects, the club supports the Pegasus Children’s Trust which assists street kids around the world, and recently celebrated a young girl from the poverty stricken area of Soweto graduating with a BA in Glasgow after 3 years of funding by the trust.

The club also promotes Rotary among the local youth by supporting both the RYLA and YEP Programs. The club is very open to visitors and in typical Loch Ness fashion they promise a “monster” welcome to all.

Stories of service from around the world

The Richness Of Belonging

By Renée Riley-Adams, a member of the Rotary Club of Ashland, Oregon, USA

Recently, I received a blue name badge from my Rotary club. Initially, when a member first joins, my club issues a red badge with a ribbon that identifies them as new members. As we take part in a series of tasks that include things like joining a committee, attending a district meeting, and participating in a club service project, we get our blue badges.

During a short ceremony, I looked out into the crowd, and realized how much these people have become my community. Eating lunch with them every Thursday since last September and hearing about their children's sports wins, new grandchildren, trips far and wide, and professional achievements, I have a new way of locating myself in this little town of 20,000 people.

In our club we have a fire chief, a policeman, some bankers, a city councilman, several doctors, a few construction guys who have big trucks, an ex-president of a university, a fairly large retired contingent, an accountant who wears bow ties, a designer and many more "classifications." Ashland Rotary is truly a microcosm. The one thing that joins us together? Service Above Self.

At Rotary, I've found integrity, professionalism, an interest in life-long learning, fun, humor, and an inter-generational community. Service Leadership emerges from those whose primary motivation is a deep desire to help others. Unlike leadership approaches with a top-down style, servant leadership instead emphasizes collaboration, trust, empathy, and the ethical use of power.

I plan on working with the Interact Club at Ashland High to help kids learn about leadership and doing for others. I'm excited to be the counselor for our Youth Exchange student who is arriving later this month from Spain. I'll have a hand in presenting Youth of the Month awards. And I look forward next summer to attending the five-day leadership camp for 144 high school juniors from Northern California and Oregon known as Rotary Youth Leadership Awards (RYLA).

There is a lot of doing involved to get the most out of Rotary. But there is doing and being. On the "being" side of the equation is the richness of belonging.

Brené Brown, a researcher and sociologist who gave one of the top five most-watched TED Talks, says: "Belonging is the innate human desire to be part of something larger than us. Because this yearning is so primal, we often try to acquire it by fitting in and by seeking approval, which are not only hollow substitutes for belonging, but often barriers to it. Because true belonging only happens when we present our authentic, imperfect selves to the world, our sense of belonging can never be greater than our level of self-acceptance."

That's what my blue name badge means to me: that I had the courage to present my authentic, imperfect self to this group of human beings. And I was welcomed with open arms. Self-acceptance is a big concept and it may take me a few more years before I can say I truly feel it in my bones. Wearing my new badge on Thursdays is a good way to practice.

THE FIVE AVENUES OF SERVICE

The term "Five Avenues of Service" is frequently used in Rotary literature and information. The "Avenues" refer to the five elements of the Object of Rotary: Club Service, Vocational Service, Community Service, International Service and Youth Service.

Although the Avenues of Service are not found in any formal part of the constitutional documents of Rotary, the concept has been accepted as a means to describe the primary areas of Rotary activity.

"Club Service" involves all of the activities necessary for Rotarians to perform to make their club function successfully.

"Vocational Service" is a description of the opportunity each Rotarian has to represent the dignity and utility of one's vocation to the other members of the club.

"Community Service" pertains to those activities which Rotarians undertake to improve the quality of life in their community. It frequently involves assistance to youth, the aged, handicapped and others who look to Rotary as a source of hope for a better life.

"International Service" describes the many programs and activities which Rotarians undertake to advance international understanding, goodwill and peace. International Service projects are designed to meet humanitarian needs of people in many lands.

"Youth Service" (New Generations) recognizes the positive change implemented by youth and young adults involved in leadership development activities, community and international service projects, and exchange programs that enrich and foster world peace and cultural understanding. Programs include Debating Competition, Rotaract, Rotary Youth Leadership Awards, Summer Science Schools, Youth Exchange, Rotary Youth Program of Enrichment, Model United Nations Assembly.

"Sustainability or Stagnation: The Squeaky Wheel??"

Some useful suggestions to come out of the recent Public Relations/Membership workshop:

- * Rotary is 110 years old in 2015 (Feb??) We should get together with the other clubs and have a very public "Rotary Day".
- * President nominees, Secretaries and Treasurers should be included in PETS training, especially important for those new in the job.
- * Know your Rotary story. Every member should be able to tell someone why they joined Rotary.
- * Use Rotary clusters to work on projects.
- * Dinner meeting where having a meal is optional.
- * Become more involved with various community groups. Meet them where they meet.
- * Become more public. Meet in different venues - eg coffee club, golf club, local beach.
- * Build relationships with media editors. Include them on your mailing list.
